New Delhi , Frontline gear is used every day by troops all over the world, but did you know how are soldiers' ballistic helmets, sniper camouflage suits, forest fire fighters' high-tech 'dragon eggs' and more actually made? HISTORY TV18 gives you an answer to all your queries in its show 'Battle Factory' a 14 part series every weekend 16th February onwards at 9.30 PM. Each episode is a story in itself, which will excite the viewer for its very format of never-before-seen factories that are secretive and kept hush-hush. It gives you a preview of the engineering mastery that goes into making the bullet-proof helmets, fuel bladders and Zippo lighters. Everyitem's manufacturing process is shot using state-of-the-art equipment and techniques for a look and feel that really brings the machines and process to life. 'Battle Factory' gives unprecedented access and reveals how these items are manufactured right before the viewers' eyes. The programme also tells the viewers how there is no room for errors when lives are at stake along with intricate details on how these factories manufacture some of the ultra-modern vital gear armies around the world. Come witness how raw materials becomes finished products ready for combat on 'Battle Factory' 16th February, Sat-Sun at 9:30 PM
