

State Bank Of India Enters Into A Tie Up With Jain Irrigation Systems

By : INVC Team Published On : 18 May, 2013 12:33 PM IST

✘ INVC,

Mumbai,

Jain Irrigation Systems Limited engaged in manufacturing and selling of micro irrigation systems, controlled climate green & poly houses, piping systems, solar pumps and tissue culture plants has entered into a national level tie-up with State Bank of India, the premier bank in rural lending. The tie-up will help farmers increase their acreage under irrigation by minimum use of available water resource. This will, in turn, increase their productivity and profitability. Jain Irrigation will assist the Bank in identifying eligible farmers with a requirement for micro irrigation systems, crop management services, etc. It is expected that a large number of farmers will be financed through this tie-up in the coming months as use of water-saving methods like drip and sprinkler irrigation method, is being encouraged by various State Governments

URL : <https://www.internationalnewsandviews.com/state-bank-of-india-enters-into-a-tie-up-with-jain-irrigation-systems/>